DISCORD IN THE A. AND N. UNION

National Commander Browne Denies Report That Endowment Feature Has Been Nullified.

The report of the delegates from this city to the encampment of the Army and Navy Union concerning the condition of the finances of the organization was submitted to Admiral David D. Porter Garrison, No. 6, at its meeting last night in G. A. R. Hall. According to the report there is said to be a shortage in the treasury of more than $1,000, which has practically nullified the endowment fund.

Col. Chase's Resignation.

Announcement was made that Col. Benjamin F. Chase had resigned as president of the Army and Navy Union council of administration for the District of Columbia. Col. Chase today admitted that his resignation was sent to national headquarters several days ago. It was largely through his efforts that harmony was restored after certain garrisons had been suspended. He deprecates the publicity that is being given the affairs of the organization because of its evil influence on soldierly fraternities. The council committee to act with a similar committee from each of the other bodies was appointed last night by Porter Garrison as follows: Dr. Charles V. Petties, chairman; William A. Hickey, Lemuel Fugitt and Charles W. Blush. These committees will take action on the delegates' report and make recommendations to their several garrisons. It was said.

A motion favoring the formation of a new organization of soldiers, sailors and marines, in lieu of the Army and Navy Union, was defeated.

Denial by Gen. Browne.

When Gen. J. Edwin Browne, national commander, was seen at his home in Baltimore, and told of the meeting and the allegations made concerning the endowment fund, he is reported to have said:

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement. The Washington garrisons have been asked to meet to make an election for the second term as commander-in-chief of the order, which occurred two years ago. At that time it was necessary for me to explain some of the Washington garrisons of the order and they were reinstated upon remaking assurance of allegiance to the Army and Navy Union."

"There is no truth in the statement that the endowment feature of the order is practically nullified. We have no hesitation in saying that the order will go on its way and continue to grow."

LIVELY ATHLETIC CONTESTS.

Four Teams of Children Compete in Games on Cardozo Playground.

Banding under the names of historic nations, Saxons, Romans, Greeks and Turks, four teams of children engaged in lively athletic contests yesterday evening at the Cardozo playground under the direction of the Washington Playgrounds Association. About 1,200 persons, parents, relatives and friends, watched the games and cheered their favorites when they won.

Greeks defeated the Saxons in the modern game of base ball, and the Romans found the Turks easy victims at the same sport. Joseph Barnes won the game of quoits, with James Ross second and Arthur Marshall third. Raymond White, a Turk, won the "chinning-the-bird" contest by raising his chin above the ring twenty times. James Edwards, a Roman, was second, and Charles McCarthy, a Greek, third.

Leroy Williams, Joseph Barnes and Arthur Marshall, all Turks, won first, second and third places in the croquet contest. Turkey won the volley ball game. William Barnes won the game of quoits, with Elmore White second, Huma Franklin, a Saxon, won the one-hundred-yard dash and four-hundred-and-forty-yard run. Julius White won the 100-yard dash for girls. Also carried off the honors in the potato race. Sophronia Lawson, Celestine White and Elmore White came out first, second and third. E. B. Henderson, M. C. Waynes and Miss Ferguson supervised the events.

SENT TO THE WORKHOUSE.

Charles Hammet, Negro, charged With Insulting White Woman.

Charles Hammet, a negro, will serve a term in the workhouse for insulting a white woman. Miss Jessie McLea, who appeared against him in the Police Court this morning, testified that for several days past Hammet had accosted her as she passed through the parking at 1st and B streets on her way to work. She informed Park Policeman McMahon, and this morning a trap was set for the negro. As Miss McLea passed Hammet he attempted to get in her way and made a number of exceedingly offensive remarks, couched in endearing terms. When McMahon grabbed him he resisted arrest. Policeman Hammet came to McMahon's assistance, and the negro was waylaid to the station house. Judge Kimball imposed a fine of $35 on Hammet, in default of which he was sent to the workhouse for six months.

The bringing of potatoes to this city by the vessel load is something new, but the venture of the Clarence has been so successful that it is probable she will make several other trips to this market and other vessels may engage in the trade. The schooner Maggie Smith is also at the 11th street wharf with a mixed cargo of melons and potatoes. She comes from a down-the-Potomac port.

DICKSON HOME FOR AGED MEN

WORK TO BEGIN SOON ON PROPOSED NEW RETREAT.

Sequel to Will of Late Washingtonian, Who Seeks to Perpetuate Memory of His Father.

Work will soon begin on the John Dickson Home for Aged Men, which will be erected on a four-and-one-half-acre site, adjoining Saul's Addition, lying between 14th street and Piney Branch road, opposite the reservoir. The site was purchased and the home will be erected and endowed from funds provided by Henry Dickson, a former Washingtonian, who died in Nice, France, two years ago, and who wished to honor his father's memory by erecting the home in this city, in which they were both in business for many years.

Henry Dickson, who amassed a considerable fortune in the coal business in Washington, left here twenty-eight years ago for Nice, where he hoped to regain his health. He never returned to Washington permanently, although he always regarded this city as his legal residence. He left an estate of nearly $1,000,000, of which he bequeathed nearly $900,000 in trust to the Washington Loan and Trust Company for the erection and endowment of a home for aged men, in memory of his father.

Site on 14th Street.

The president of the trust company and the trust committee purchased the site on 14th street, which they regard as a particularly fortunate one, because of its high elevation, pleasant surroundings, good view and its proximity to a car line. Arthur B. Heaton has been engaged as the architect and has nearly completed the plans for the buildings.

The home will be made to accommodate about seventy-five inmates, who are to be aged men who have resided at least five years in the District. Each inmate will have a separate room, and is to be made to have the institution as much like a real home as possible. Mr. Edson, president of the Washington Loan and Trust Company, said today: "We are planning the best possible use of the money at our command. While Mr. Dickson is known only to the older members of the Washingtonian philanthropy which he has organized will serve to keep his name and that of his father alive. It is his last desire that the home be erected nearly his entire fortune. It is not possible to say just when the home will be completed, but after careful consideration we estimated that with the funds at our command we can construct a model home which will accommodate comfortably about seventy-five inmates. In this manner we think that we can carry out in the highest degree the purpose of the donor."

PLANS FOR FALL FISHING.

Crews Expect Big Hauls on All the Potomac "Shores."

All along the Potomac, from Alexandria to its mouth, fishermen are busily engaged in making ready for the fall fishing season and the fishermen are anticipating good catches as soon as the weather becomes cool enough to affect the water. Nets for traps are being overhauled, and the traps are being put down in the mud on the river shoals, and from the decks of passing steamboats it looks as if an effort was being made to build fences on all the shoals.

The few fishermen that have their nets out at this time are meeting with considerable success, and the river line steamers are bringing quite a number of barrels of fish caught in the Potomac to this market on each trip. From Dent's wharf, on the Maryland side of the Potomac, white perch caught with a hand line are being shipped to this city. The perch are, it is said, to be found in large numbers on the sand bar lumps on Clifton Island and in the vicinity of the hook and line fishermen.

A barrel and several bunches of fish caught in that way were shipped to this city on the steamer Wakefield yesterday.

ALLEGED ILLEGAL DREDGING.

Police Boats After "Oyster Pirates" in the Potomac Waters.

The oyster-dredging season on the Potomac does not begin, under the fisheries protection laws of Maryland and Virginia, until the middle of next month, but it is said that dredge boats have been at work this season. The police boats of the states are exercising vigilance in an endeavor to catch the dredgers out of season. The Virginia oyster steamer Accomac is making her headquarters in Upper Machodoc creek, and from that creek she goes on her daily rounds of the oyster-bearing grounds in Virginia waters. On the Maryland side of the river the steamer Gov. McLean is the police steamer and is assisted by the fast sailing schooner, or Bessie Jones. The boats not only have to keep a lookout for dredgers, but see that the oyster boats do not violate the river, from which oysters cannot be taken until October 1. The bivalves now on sale at the oyster wharf are from the natural rocks in the Potomac and were caught by the tongers.

TO FORCE PLOW PITS' REMOVAL

COMMISSIONERS DRAFT BILL FOR CONGRESS.

Will Ask Legislators to Compel Railway Company to Remove Eyesore on North Capitol St.

With the object of compelling the removal of the street railway plow pit on North Capitol street near T street to some point north of V street, the Commissioners have had prepared a draft of a bill, which they will ask Congress to enact at the next session.

The bill directs the City and Suburban Railway Company "to equip with the underground system that part of its suburban route on North Capitol street between the present terminus of its underground system thereon, near T street, and a point to be approved by the Commissioners, north of and within one hundred feet of the north building line of V street."

The Commissioners have referred this draft to the corporation counsel to be placed in proper legal form.

Favored by Residents.

The object to be accomplished by this bill, it is believed, will meet the favor of all the residents affected by the present location of the plow pit. For some time, the pit and the overhead wires along that section of North Capitol street north of T street which has been built up have been eyesores to the residents. Some months ago interested citizens asked the Commissioners to compel the removal of the plow pit, and at the head of the fight was Father Eugene Hannan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church. But the Commissioners found themselves powerless to order the removal of the pit more than about 100 feet until the entire length of North Capitol street has been paved. The street railway company refused to move the pit voluntarily.

BUILDERS WANT CHANGE.

Chamber Committee to Look Up Building Permits Elsewhere.

At a meeting of the building committee of the Chamber of Commerce, held yesterday afternoon, it was decided that a subcommittee should be appointed by the chairman, B. F. The builders present at the meeting yesterday seemed to be of the opinion that some of the restrictions in Washington could be eased without endangering the quality of work to be done.

The committee will listen to the report next week and will take up the matter with the Commissioners.

The builders objected to the regulation requiring thirteen-inch walls in small buildings. It was the general opinion that nine-inch walls are strong enough.
